The Google Anita Borg Memorial Scholarship
Europe, the Middle East and Africa

Dr. Anita Borg (1949 – 2003) devoted her life to revolutionising the way we think about technology and dismantling the barriers that keep women and minorities from entering the computing and technology fields. She fought tirelessly for the development of technology with positive social and human impact, and her combination of technical expertise and fearless vision continues to inspire and motivate countless women to become active participants and leaders in creating technology.

As part of Google's ongoing commitment to furthering Anita's vision, we are pleased to announce the Google Anita Borg Memorial Scholarship: Europe, the Middle East and Africa. We will award multiple scholarships based on the strength of candidates' academic performance, leadership experience and demonstrated passion for computer science.

A group of female Bachelor's, Master's and PhD students will each receive a €7,000 (or equivalent) scholarship for the 2010/2011 academic year. All finalists will be invited to visit Google's Engineering Centre in Zurich for a networking retreat.

Eligibility Requirements
Candidates must:

- Be a female student entering her final year of a Bachelor's degree, or enrolled in a Master's or PhD programme (or equivalent), in 2010/2011.

- Be enrolled at a University in Europe, the Middle East or Africa. Citizens, permanent residents, and international students are eligible to apply.

- Be studying Computer Science, Computer Engineering, Informatics, or a closely related technical field.

- Maintain an excellent academic record.
