Operations Internship

Are you ambitious?

Do you have your sights set on working at a Fortune 500 company?

Are you a full-time university student and you're already thinking about what's next?

We're on the hunt for driven, enthusiastic students to join a totally unique, cutting-edge workplace; a place for you to jump-start a highly rewarding career. You'll benefit from opportunities that are project-based with a clear educational goal. They'll aid your professional development and your personal growth. They'll also give you some serious insight into our industry-leading Fulfillment & Operations environment.

As part of your day-to-day, you could be:

- Diving deep into data, mapping processes and problems,
- Offering and testing potential solutions and implementing the very best options,
- Interacting with a diverse range of brilliant minds and diverse teams – from shop floor associates to regional managers.
- Joining one of the following departments and completing a project focusing on this area: Inbound (manages truck reception and unloading, registering products in our systems and inventory space),
